

Centre i presents a master class

Tuesday 4th March 2008 1330 – 1730

St Bride Foundation Bride Lane Fleet Street
London EC4Y 8EQ

Solving difficult and ambiguous problems

Results

By the end of this workshop you will have the knowledge to be able to:

1. Workout what the real problem is in any given situation so that you are not dealing with the symptoms (unless that's what you want of course!)
2. Define the type of problem you have
3. Work out the most appropriate way of dealing with the problem
4. Deploy both critical and creative problem solving processes
5. Deal with any problem no matter how difficult or ambiguous

Your Facilitator

David Wilkinson is the author of 'The Ambiguity Advantage: what great leaders are great at' and a master facilitator and coach. He has served in the Army, the Police and was latterly an academic and was Head of Professional Development at Cranfield University. Educated at Oxford, David is an expert in dealing with ambiguity and leadership development, especially in disaster and crises situations. He teaches regularly around the world including in Saudi Arabia, South Africa, The US, Malaysia and in many universities including Oxford, Oxford Brookes, York, Cardiff, and Essex for example.

Solving difficult and ambiguous problems

Content

- How to work out what the problem really is
- What smart people do with difficult problems
- How to work out what type of problem you have
- The 4 methods of solving problems
- Using creative and critical problem solving processes
- There are only 4 solutions anyway

Who is it for

Anyone who has to deal with complex, difficult or ambiguous problems and who wants to:

- Solve problems better
- Solve problems quicker
- Get the edge fast when results matter
- Get more creative

Useful when

- Things are in turmoil
- Those about you are losing it
- The situation is complex, uncertain or difficult
- You don't have all the data
- Things are very fluid or fast moving
- Change abounds
- Things need to change
- People are being difficult

Workshop Plan

Participants are asked to bring a real life problem with them. It is best that this is a fairly high level problem especially a leadership issue.

0830 - Welcome, introduction and overview

0845 - A quick game of chess – solve this!

0900 – The effects that difficult problems have on our thinking and emotions:

- How our emotions hijack our thinking and ability to solve problems
- How to stop such hijacks in their tracks and see things for what they are

0930 – Different problems different structures – four types of problem part 1

1000 – Coffee

1020 – Different problems different structures – four types of problem part 2

1050 – The secret structure underlying all practical problem solving

1150 – Finding opportunities

1215 – Looking at own problems now

1230 – Summary and Close

Synopsis

Over 81% of executive problem solving fails when the problem is considered to be difficult or ambiguous, (more) even though 96% of leaders think that they are successful. This engaging workshop is focussed on proving you with the basic knowledge and skills to be able to deal with any problem no matter how ambiguous.

What previous participants have said:

“Really enjoyable workshop”

“Very powerful”

“Superb”

“An outstanding course”

“This is an original view of problem solving and has given me the confidence to tackle a problem I have been putting off. I can now see how to do it”

“Just a quick note to say thank you. The course works! I am seeing things totally different now and I can see just how bad the problem solving is here.”

“I will call you. I need this for my entire team”

“If the second workshop is anything like this one I can't wait – thank you”
